American Nazism In The Context Of The American Extreme Right 1960 - 1978. (Jim Saleam)

Bibliography
PRIMARY MATERIAL
(i) Books/Pamphlets

Rockwell, George Lincoln. This Time The World.. Parliament House, 1975 (no city of publication).

(ii) Interviews/Conversations
I conducted the following interviews, or had conversations, with Australians who were in possession or direct information relevant to the American Extreme-Right scene.

Alan Birtley, Melbourne rightist activist in the 1970's.
Dr. E. R. Cawthron, a regular correspondent of the U-S. Nazis, 1963-75.
Raymond Gillespie, correspondent with the WUNS 1970-75, who met Danish Nazis connected with the NSWPP.
Errol Robert Niemeyer, Australian Nazi 1963-75, with some U.S. connections.
Arthur Charles Smith, leader of the Australian Nazis, 1963-72, a confidant of Rockwell.
Francis Stewart Young, Australian Nazi leader, 1971-73.
Raymond Welham, British member of British Movement, a neo-nazi organisation.

(iii) Magazines/Newspapers
Attack - National Vanguard, newspaper of the National Alliance, Washington, D.C
Chicago Tribune
Crusader, newspaper of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Metairie, Louisiana.
Fiery Cross, newspaper of the United Klans of America.
Militant, newspaper of the Socialist Workers' Party, New York.
NS Newsletter, bulletin of the National Socialist Party of America, Chicago.
NS Report, newspaper of the National Socialist German Workers' Party (Foreign Organisation), Lincoln, Nebraska.
The New Order, newspaper of the National Socialist Party of America, Chicago.
New York Times
Seige, journal of the National Socialist Liberation Front, Los Angeles.
Stormer, magazine of the National Socialist White Workers' Party, San Francisco.
Thunderbolt. The White Man's Viewpoint, newspaper of the National States' Rights Party, Marietta, Georgia.
White Nationalist, magazine of the American White Nationalist Party, Columbus, Ohio.
Workers' Vanguard, Marxist bi-weekly Working Class paper, Spartacist League, New York.

(iii) Correspondence
During the course of my research I corresponded with persons in possession of information concerning U.S. Nazi and other racist organisations. These persons were:
Ricky Cooper, a World Union of National Socialists' official.
François Duprat, a French 'revolutionary-nationalist' theorist and writer.
Dr. Edward Fields, NSRP member and editor of Thunderbolt
Ralph P. Forbes, an organiser of the American Nazi Party in the 1960's.
Nick Griffin, prominent National Front activist, 1980's
Michael Kelly, secretary to the National Socialist Party of America.
Dominic Lewitzke, a National Socialist White People's Party member.
James N. Mason, a U.S. Nazi active in a number of Nazi organisations.
Tim O'Leary, a member of the National Socialist White Workers' Party.
Ken Reguli, leader of the American Nationalist Party.
Paul Rius-Knudsen, Danish Nazi leader.
James K. Warner, leader of the New Christian Crusade Criurob and former Rockwell supporter.

(iv) Tape Recordings.

SECONDARY MATERIAL
(i) Books
Dennis, Lawrence. The Coning American Fascism. New York: Harper and Brothers,
Diamond, Sander A. The Nazi Movement In The United States 1924-1941. Ithaca: Cornell University Press,
Harris, H. S. The Social Philosophy Of Giovanni Gentile. Urbana: University of Spengler, Oswald. Man And Technics. London: George Allen and Unwin, 1932 –

(ii) Articles

Note: In addition to the materials and works cited here I have examined a large quantity of ephemera, posters, leaflets and minor tracts which could not be individually cited.
It should be noted in the bibliography that a few pieces do not have full publication details. In the case of privately published documents, this occurs.

Return to start page:
American Nazism In The Context Of The American Extreme Right 1960 - 1978